EASTLANDS FARMYARD and CONSERVATION WALK

Regular walkers will be aware that recently the access through Eastlands Farmyard to the Conservation Walk has been closed off.

Some users of the walk have been made aware that the scheme under which the Conservation Walk was set up ceased in 2012, and there is no continuing right to walk on the land.

Recently, access to the Walk through the farmyard has been permitted (or, not prevented) by the owners. Thanks are due to the owners of the permissive route and the farmyard from all past users of the access and the Conservation Walk, for the many years of enjoyment of the footpath.

The Yorkshire Wolds Cycle Challenge will be passing through Huggate on Sunday 15th July {the map on the web site <https://www.yorkshirewoldscyclechallenge.org.uk/> suggests that the route approaches Huggate along the Pocklington Road and then turns along the York Road, rather than actually passing through the village}. The event runs from 11am to 4 pm and involves about 300 cycles {The published route details suggest that most riders will be near the village around lunchtime and early afternoon. Residents may wish to avoid the Pocklington and York road directions, as there is no information on the event web site as to whether roads will be closed or just restricted,}
